Sunny prospects for the smart home: Netatmo is a new Home Connect Plus partner

- / Smart home products from the areas of Security, Energy, Weather and Air Care from Netatmo can now be controlled via Home Connect Plus.
- / Available for Germany, Austria, Switzerland, the Netherlands, Sweden and Great Britain.

The sky is blue, the sun is shining and the Netatmo Weather Station is lowering the blinds: This is what summer 2022 looks like in the smart home. Even the garden is getting smarter. The robotic lawnmower and the irrigation system only start if it has not rained beforehand.

What happens when you leave the home can also be automated: When the family leaves for the day, the indoor camera is activated, the alarm siren is armed, the blinds are lowered and the lights and intermediate plugs are switched off.

The integration of Netatmo's smart devices into the partner network of Home Connect Plus, the app for the cross-manufacturer control of all smart home devices, offers users numerous new automation options for the perfect interaction of all devices.

"It was clear from the very first meeting that Netatmo and Home Connect Plus are pursuing the same goal: We want our users to be able to get the most out of their smart home, to gain more time and comfort for themselves. Since the weather is the initial trigger for many actions that we can map via our automations according to the "if-then" principle, the collaboration with Netatmo is so significant for us. We are excited about the partnership because our strong network is the key to success," says Lauri Pesonen, CEO of Residential IoT Services GmbH.

"Customer benefit is always the focus for us. The smart home becomes all the more attractive the more its individual parts communicate with each other. That's why we at Netatmo have taken the approach from the very beginning that our products should be compatible with a wide range of systems. Home Connect Plus has created an excellent platform with renowned partners, which we were happy to join. We are sure that users will make extensive use of the added value that is now available to them," adds Philippe Citroen, General Manager of Netatmo.

Netatmo's Smart Home portfolio is now available for Home Connect Plus users in Germany, Austria, Switzerland, the Netherlands, Sweden and the UK.

In the future, Home Connect Plus will be available in other European countries. The launch in France is scheduled for later this year.
